Oman Air welcomes businessmen

Oman Air welcomes businessmen

Oman Air launched in March 2005 a new service to its valuable business class customers who arrive to Oman from any of its international destinations. This service gives the passengers the opportunity to avail many of the facilities and privileges available in Oman Air's 'Ahlan' lounge located in the arrival terminal of Seeb International Airport.

Announcing this new service, Mr. Ziad Karim Al Haremy – Divisional Manager Commercial said: "Oman Air is keen to provide to its distinguished customers the best services and facilities over its extended network routes whether in air or on the ground, particularly to the business class passengers. And for that sake we have introduced this new service in line with our several other remarkable services which distinguish Oman Air, the national carrier of the Sultanate of Oman, with the true hospitality of the people of Oman".

He added: " As Oman Air is witnessing profound development in all the spheres, it became the ideal choice of businessmen, where different people and cultures meet on board. We provide this new service to save every minute of the valuable time of the businessmen, whom we welcome with our style of the genuine hospitality of Oman, by providing an array of facilities available in Oman Air's 'Ahlan' lounge, while our proficient staff completes all formalities for entry to the Sultanate of Oman.

Mr. Ziad concluded by adding that: " the business class passengers, while checking in at any of Oman Air's out stations, are given a business class voucher which they have to present, on arrival at Seeb International Airport, to the 'Ahlan' lounge staff, where they feel the warm and distinguished welcome and the great difference in completing their formalities.